

Do you need to better manage your diabetes?

Diabetes affects over 10% of all Americans. In addition to putting you at higher risk for cardiovascular problems, we're now seeing how the disease can make you more susceptible to viral infections and lead to serious complications. But by taking the right steps, you can take control of your diabetes and take on each day with peace of mind.

1 Take your meds

Medications are often a key part of managing diabetes, so it's important to take them daily as directed – even if you're feeling well.

2 Check your levels

Use a blood glucose monitor daily to check your sugar levels, including in the morning, after meals and exercise, or anytime you're feeling "off."

3 Eat right and exercise

Eating balanced meals and exercising for at least 30 minutes a day can have a big impact on improving your blood sugar levels, lowering your blood pressure, and more.

4 Use your plan's benefits

Your Univera Healthcare health plan comes with a Diabetes Management Program at no extra cost. See the next page to learn all the ways we can help.

Did you know?

Stress spikes sugar levels.

Deep breathing exercises are a great way to relax and keep your levels in check.

Walking lowers sugar levels.

Studies show a 10-minute walk after eating helps lower sugar levels.
