Helping members care for their overall health

Wellbeing is more than physical health. It's taking care of your emotional and financial health, too. At Univera Healthcare, it's our approach to bringing people, programs and tools together to care for our members every day. And it means employers and employees enjoy coordinated, comprehensive care that offers better outcomes, lower costs, and greater peace of mind.

Mental health and substance use issues cost U.S. businesses $80-$100 billion each year. Managing behavioral health holistically isn't just good business, it's what employees want and need—especially those facing new stresses, anxieties, and health challenges.

That's why we tap into data and technology, offering self-management tools your employees can use that work in concert with targeted personal interventions. So we can reach your employees where they are, with the appropriate level of support.

Together, We Can Help Tackle Anything

Diane, one of our Care Managers, introduced Jonathan, a member struggling with mental health and substance abuse, to the Wellframe® app. They connected almost daily on his progress, plans, and occasional setbacks.

One day, Jonathan contacted Diane after taking heroin. She feared he had overdosed and didn't know where he was. Diane helped Jonathan identify his location and contacted 911.

Within minutes, Jonathan responded:
"Thank you so much for helping me get the help I need!"

Once she confirmed he was on his way to the hospital, Diane followed up with a text: "Jonathan, you're a strong person. As you said today, you have an addiction and need help."
